

2010 NEIBA ALL-STAR GAME WRAP-UP

NEIBA All Star Game A Success

Despite some tough weather and with the help of the Boston Red Sox we were able to have a very successful day. The game was cut short after three innings due to hurricane like storms. Pitching and defense were the story in the first two innings with no runs being scored. The only two runs of the game were scored in the bottom of the third. Matt Sucharewicz led off the bottom of the third with a singled through the right side, he then scored on a two run home run by Drew Tambling. The next three batters were retired and then the rain came. The Fenway staff was great all day and handled the issue superbly. Congratulations to the NEIBA award winners. The Kevin Burr assistant coach of the year award was given to Pat Mason of Northeastern University. The Jack Butterfield Award was given to Bob Whelan of Dartmouth College. The Andy Baylock Award was given to John Doldoorian. Congratulations again to the award winners.
